

Pu‘ulu Lapa‘au, The Hawai‘i Program for Healthcare Professionals Presents:

“The Opioid Epidemic”

CDC Prescribing Guidelines

Kevin Thomas McCauley, MD

Kevin McCauley, MD is an addiction consultant to Pu‘ulu Lapa‘au, an independent, non-profit organization in Hawai‘i, dedicated to assisting healthcare providers in their journey of life and medicine by offering confidential support and advocacy. He graduated from Drexel University Medical School in 1992 and entered the United States Navy. He received his Naval Flight Surgeon training at the Naval Aerospace Medical Institute in Pensacola, Florida.

From 2009 to 2013, Dr. McCauley was Director of Le Mont, a sober living/recovery management program in Sandy, Utah, and president of the Utah Association of Recovery Residences. He is currently Director of Program Services at New Roads Behavioral Health in Salt Lake City, Utah.

As Co-Founder of the Institute for Addiction Study, Dr. McCauley wrote and directed two films: “Pleasure Unwoven” about the neuroscience of addiction, and “Memo to Self” about Recovery Management in commercial airline pilots and professionals with substance use disorders. “Pleasure Unwoven” won the 2010 Michael Q. Ford Award for Journalism from the National Association of Addiction Treatment Providers.

Dr. McCauley has presented over two thousand lectures on addiction and recovery throughout the United States, Canada, the Caribbean, Europe and Australia. He travels between Utah and his home in Honolulu, Hawai‘i where he lives with his wife, Kristine.
