

BEHAVIORAL HEALTH – HOW CAN WE BEST CARE FOR OUR PATIENTS?

You are invited to attend a “talk story” session with Dr. James Westphal, Clinical Professor of Psychiatry with the University of Hawaii, John A. Burns School of Medicine and VP and Medical Director of Beacon Health Options Hawaii. Beacon Health is interested in supporting East Hawaii IPA physicians and wants to know what they can do to help.

Please join us to share your insights and brainstorm ways to improve behavioral health referrals, education and outreach and figure out how to help providers optimize care for our patients in East Hawaii.

Dr. James Westphal attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the University of Wisconsin, Madison as an undergraduate, with a B.S. in Biochemistry and a M.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin Medical School. He completed his Internship and residency at Stanford University Medical Center. He has held academic appointments at Stanford University Medical Center, Louisiana State University Medical Center in Shreveport, Louisiana State University Medical Center in New Orleans, and University of California, San Francisco. Before joining Beacon, he worked for the State of Hawaii Department of Health, Adult Mental Health Division as chief of Psychiatry. Dr. Westphal has completed three board certifications, Adult Psychiatry, Geriatric Psychiatry and Addiction Psychiatry.

Beacon Health Hawaii has a team of 40 employees including two in East Hawaii who work with HMSA to provide behavioral health services and support. The company provides behavioral healthcare management to 41 Fortune 500 companies, national and regional health plans and federal, state and local governments serving over 45 million people nationwide. The company is exclusively focused on helping people with mental illness or substance use disorders live their lives to their fullest potential.
